Babysitting Rush is a new videogame released December 10th, 2020! It captures the retro, VHS, and 80's vibe that games nowadays seem to stray away from. Inspired by the soundtrack of the videogame series, Hotline Miami, techno and upbeat music truly became a sole attribute for the game. There's even a section of it dedicated for a soundtrack!

to be hired again. There are objects around the house that are clickable and increases the hunger, social, hygiene, and fun bar. When starting the game, the player can see that baby Kiko has completely empty needs and they need to be fulfilled! Do not be fooled, sometimes clicking on an object in hopes of increasing a need can end up decreasing another need! Be careful and be smart about what to increase before what. When fulfilling all of Kiko's needs, all of the bars should be green.

Babysitting Rush is a great game that challenges you by testing your speed and thought process. Also, it gives you great visuals and a wonderful soundtrack to bop to as you win or fail at taking home the win!
